

Water for Long Island

Presents

The 2015 Groundwater Symposium A Lifeline for Long Island's Water—An Aquifer Compact?

Friday, December 4, 2015

9:00 am to 12:30 pm

South Huntington Public Library

145 Pidgeon Hill Road, Huntington Station, N.Y. 11746

Greetings to Everyone Interested in Long Island's Groundwater:

You are cordially invited to attend the 2015 Groundwater Symposium. This forum will host thought-provoking presentations and ideas for protecting, assessing and remediating Long Island's groundwater.

Water experts, water suppliers, water-dependent business interests, and others will discuss what they are doing to ensure Long Island's groundwater is sustainable and available, now and into the future. The program will feature a representative from the Delaware River Basin Commission who will discuss the role of managing a shared, regional water resource.

Groundwater conditions continue to decline. Before it is too late to change this trend, Long Island needs to choose a different path.

You are invited to join the discussions.

This Program is free to the public but registration is required.

To register, please visit www.waterforlongisland.org

SPONSORED BY

SIERRA CLUB, L.I. GROUP
RUSKIN MOSCOU FALTISCHEK, P.C.
WATER FOR LONG ISLAND

CENTER FOR WATER RESOURCES MANAGEMENT AT NYIT
SOUTH HUNTINGTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

FOR MORE INFORMATION

www.waterforlongisland.org
Facebook.com/waterforlongisland
E-mail: waterforlongisland@gmail.com

FOR DIRECTIONS

Shpl.info/about_hours_directions.asp